User Story Backlog

User Story	Story Points (hrs to implement)
As a new user I can easily begin learning English letter's encodings in morse code	4
As a new user I can view an explanation of the app so that I know the best way for me to learn	1
As an experienced user I can quickly start practicing morse code so that I don't have to waste time learning letters (practice mode)	7
As a practicing user I can change the speed of morse code playback to fit my experience level	1
As a practicing user I can change the difficulty of words to fit my experience level	4
As a user I can save my lesson progress.	2
As a user I can hear audio queues from the morse code so that I can more easily understand when to input my dots and dashes	4
As a practicing user I can see some score or metric of how much I can have a sense of skill progression	2
As a user I can work through lessons to learn morse code	12
As a practicing user I can replay lessons to practice specific concepts.	1
As a practicing user I can see visual feedback as I improve to incentivize me to keep practicing	5
As a user I can choose between a straight key and paddle for morse input	3
As a user I can choose the keybinds for morse input to allow for more customization	1
As a user I can view a page with all morse encodings to quickly reference things I have forgotten	2

As a user I can freely input morse code or English letters and translate it to plain English/morse code to self check my understanding (like a translator)	8
As a user I can navigate between learning, practicing, and translating morse code with a menu	5